The study, funded by The Bethel Inn as part of an agreement with the state Department of Environmental Protection last year, proposes replacing outmoded or non-functioning portions of the sewer plant in three phases.

The Bethel Inn paid for the study in order to get permission to hook up its first 40 condos to the town sewer. However, the DEP has refused to give permission to hook up the Inn's second phase of condominium construction, and the Inn has indicated it will install septic systems for the additional 20 units. In fact, the DEP has shut off the sewer to any additional hook-ups by multi-unit construction. The proplems at the sewer plant are mainly that the system cannot deal with the amount of sewage it was designed to deal with. These problems are compounded by the fact that the old and leaky sewer pipes around town allow infiltration of storm water, further overburdening the plant. According to plant operator Rob Gunderson, during the wet spell two weeks ago, the output from the plant into the river contained untreated wastewater because the plant could not handle the inflow. The $1.2 million repair job proposed by DuBois & King would only address proplems at the plant, not problems with the

The Board of Selectmen, who met last Tuesday night-instead of their usually Monday night meeting-were less than thrilled at the prospect of trying to sell that kind of repair cost to the 400-plus users of the sewer, or the town in general. Following the meeting, however, it was not certain that Some board members felt that those who Mr. Bell would accept the position.

Although approving the appointment, the board initially balked at the salary agreed upon by the administration and the appointee. The board voted 10-4 against the recommended salary of $33,000 plus benefits for a 10-month workyear.

Then, at Superintendent Dewaine Craig's request, the board went into executive session to discuss the matter. When the meeting again became open to the public, the board reversed its original vote and approved the negotiated salary, on a 12-3 vote.

Prior to the second vote, Director Stan Howe, of Bethel, moved that it be by roll call, in which case the vote of each board member-rather than just the overall total vote-would be recorded. The board

Annual solid waste tonnage at landfill up 50% in 3 years

According to an estimate by Fergus year lead time.' Lea, of the Androscoggin Valley of Governments, the Bethel landfill is currently accepting about 2,000 tens of waste per year. This is an increase of over 50 percent over his 1985 estimate of 1,322 tons. The estimates do not include estimates for white goods, tires or demolition debris.

Mr. Lea estimates that the landfill will conclude its usable life in the spring of 1991 if volume remains as is.

Town Manager Rodney Lynch told the Board of Selectmen last week if volume continues to increase, the landfill will be completely used up much sooner. And, he told them, "In order to get a new replacement system in place, before we run out of landfill space, we need a 2-4

Mr. Lynch considers the landfill problem the most urgent, and difficult, of the many problems facing the town.

Based on figures supplied by Dwight Merrill, of D&S Sanitation, Mr. Lynch told the selectmen that for the 12 months of 1987, Newry contributed 20 percent of the waste at the landfill, while Bethel contributed 75 percent. The remaining 5 percent was distributed among Hanover, Albany and Mason.

Although 1987 is the only full year of figures Mr. Merrill could provide, partial records from 1986 indicate Newry contributed about 15 percent to the landfill in that year, while Bethel contributed about 80 percent, with the three smaller

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

To the Editor:

I would like to compliment Carroll Murphy and Ruth and Arthur Cummings on their letters to the editor awhile back. They were right in every respect. Bobby Chadbourne was right on line, too. The Main Street that we knew 50 or 60 years ago is gone forever and nothing is coming in to replace it. Brown's Variety Store, a place where you could buy anything you wanted and at a price lower then Sears or Wards, is Basserman's Drug Store is gone and nothing will ever replace that either. Today it is beer, wine and hard stuff and more beer. Put a bucket of beer in front of a pig and the pig will smell of it and run the other way. You should too, or had you rather be a duck.

Why pay $250 for a bush when you can go out in the swamp and pull up a alder and stick in it a hole on Main Street? The local dogs had just as soon [urinate] on an alder as they had on a pear tree. They are not a bit fussy.

Let's take a look at the voting situation in Bethel. There are 1,500 registered voters (including the townships) and only a handful bother to go to Town Meeting and vote. And then they [complain] about the high cost of government. It is their own fault if the taxes are out of voted down all these pet projects, then they might see a difference in their taxes. I think Telstar will hold 1,500, and if it can't then maybe we can make a deal with the W.P.A. to scab on a piece. There was over $1 million in new valuation last year and the tax rate went up $2 million. With this kind of arithmetic you could see people standing on Main Street, selling apples, while others are singing "Brother can you spare a dime." You could even see a vast number of Hoover flags. Remember what happened at Harrison's Town Meeting. Maybe it should happen here.

It is unwise to rush forward with plans for the airport lots when haste cannot produce any beneficial results. The restrictions which the subdivision proposal would create, prohibit uses which may very well be the most beneficial to the town.

It is clear that such a plan will not have any effect on the actions the town takes until the new runway is paved. This means that you have until October before the subdivision needs to be accepted. This would allow a reasonable time to consider the town's alternatives, to pick a course of action most beneficial to the

I am aware of examples of the kind of arrangement which you seem to believe are impossible. Certainly when examples exist, such plans are possible.

Overall, I cannot understand how it can be in the town's interest to ignore options which are likely to result in substantial benefit to the town. I do not know at this time what is the best choice for the town. However, it is clear that for some reason options which I know to be valuable to the town are being deliberately eliminated from consideration.

I would point out that while I am considering operating a business which could use part of this area, someone else might very well make a better proposal. Thus, I do not stand to profit by the selectmen's decision. I have offered the benefit of years of experience in aviation and business to address what will certainly become a matter of importance. I find it shocking that I should be treated as an opponent to be disposed of without consideration.

In regards to bringing cable to the town, Joseph Puila, the manager of State Cable, estimated his company could make the service available to approximately 240 homes in the town. The basic service would offer 12 stations for a mon-

The selectmen questioned company representatives in considerable detail about which streets and roads the service would include, and Mr. Puila explained that service depended on a street having existing utility poles and a "house count" of 15 homes per mile. A note from the publisher

Ironies abound in the news these days. In the workers' paradise communist

Poland, with a government that supposedly represents the working class, workers throughout the country are in open defiance against the communist regime, claiming it doesn't reflect their interests.

Their demands? Simple: a chance to have input into the decisions that govern their lives.

In Israel, Zionists who, for generations, longed for their own homeland, do not understand how Palestinians can have the very same sort of longings. And Jews who, for centuries were scattered like dust all over the world before returning to their Biblical homeland, now seem to feel no shame in sending Palestinians off into their own exile.

In America, where the rallying cry of our forefathers was "Don't Tread On Me," we seem to think nothing about going into central American countries and pushing people around until we get our way. Foreing the Hondurans to support our mercenary Contra army is a case in point. Forcing the Panamanians to go hungry until they are willing to reject strongman Manuel Noriega is another case in point.

The problem with pushing one's weight around is this: you may well win your immediate objective, but you'll also engender long-lasting anger in the people you've been pushing around. For our leaders in Washington this seems of no concern. However, for a nation that has historically championed the selfdetermination of people, it should be a Closer to home, it's interesting to see how one selectman views the public's right to know. Although selectmen are elected by the public, and althoughunder a Town Meeting form of government—they have very limited powers, the first selectman in Lyman saw fit recently to have a member of the public arrested for tape-recording a meeting.

Last week, the York County district attorney declined to prosecute the case. The selectman had wanted the 76-yearold man with the tape recorder charged with obstructing government administration. The district attorney was reported as saying, "It appeared that the intent of his action was to tape record the session."

The Lyman town counsel wrote the district attorney saying, "Selectmen have authorized me to indicate they do not wish to have the matter pursued further by your office the board was under the mistaken impression that a condition precedent to such taping was a prior disclosure to the board and other members of the audience."

Since our system of government is based on people's right to know what their elected officials are saying and doing, if the Lyman selectmen cannot live with that system, it seems to me they should suggest a constitutional amendment or a new constitution. Maybe even a workers' paradise, where everything is done in the name of "the people" but the people have no input into what's being

Telstar students question Sen. Mitchell

U.S. Senator George Mitchell was greeted with a standing ovation when he spoke to Telstar Regional High School students Friday.

The Maine Democrat's visit to Telstar was part of his program of meeting regularly with voters-and future voters-throughout the state. He was accompanied Friday by State Representative Jeff Mills (D-Bethel). The senator, in the running for the job ly but devoted most of the one-hour visit to fielding questions from the students. The questions ranged from his opinion of Oliver North and the Contras to his assessment of U.S. policy in the Persian Gulf. The senator repeatedly criticized the ineptitude of the Reagan administration's foreign policy, but he received the higher education. "There is no policy of the President's with which I disagree more strongly than his repeated efforts to reduce funding for young Americans who want to go to college," he said.

President's policy—or lack thereof—on Calling funding for higher education "one of the most valuable policies ever undertaken," the senator said, "Every study has shown that it's good for the individual and good for the government. The government makes money in the long run because of the higher taxes paid by better educated, and better paid, citizens, the senator said. "But despite this, for seven years President Reagan has proposed cuts in these programs because he said we couldn't afford it. I say that if the United States can afford billions of dollars in foreign military assistance, we can afford to educate American children."

On another funding issue, the senator was asked why so little is being done to keep up, or improve, roads in the area. Here, the senator deferred to Rep. Mills, who said that part of the problem was that billions of highway fund dollars due back to the states from Washington, D.C. were being held there to help disquise the real size of the federal budget deficit.

Rep. Mills said, however, that the gasoline tax recently passed in Augusta would lead to more of this money coming back to Maine, and to more money being spent on roads in western Maine. The last question to Sen. Mitchell concerned his own political plans. "Do you plan to run for the presidency?" a student

The senator denied any such intention. noting that he had a re-election fight in Maine to win. But he thanked the student for her implied compliment.

Continued from Page One in general, those people who live further from the school their children go to should pay more in taxes because it costs more to send a bus to pick up and deliver their kids to school. Also people living out of the village should pay more in taxes because it costs more to send plow trucks out of the village to plow the outlying

In general, however, there was little support for obligating either the sewer users or the town as a whole to the tune of $1.2 million.

A separate study, done by consultant John Fancy, offered suggestions for short-term, less costly repairs, that would bring the plant into "substantial compliance" with DEP regulations for wastewater discharges from the plant. These repairs, which the consultant said could be done over 112 years using town as well as outside personnel, would cost an estimated $125,000. The consultant suggested this cost could be borne by raising the sewer rates.

The selectmen were more optimistic about going forward with this short-term plan and were hopeful of striking an agreement with DEP based on this plan. The board authorized the town manager to talk with the DEP about bringing the sewer plant into compliance. No date has yet been set for this meeting. In other matters, the board took no action on a request by Bob Saunders to purchase two lots in the airport industrial park for the purpose of establishing an aircraft service facility. The board noted an FAA regulation discouraging off-base facilities, and, in fact, the airport master plan sets aside space for an aircraft service facility on the airport propertyrather than in the adjoining industrial

Further, the board had already decided three weeks ago to apply to the Planning Board for a subdivision permit that would restrict the industrial park to light industrial uses. Mr. Saunders requested that, at a minimum, the request to the Planning Board be put off until he could make a fuller presentation on his idea for setting up an aircraft facility in the industrial park. The board declined, but the town manager indicated the request to the Planning Board was not imminent. The selectmen said they would be happy to discuss Mr. Saunders' request for permission to establish his facility in the industrial park again at their next

During the first vote on the principal's salary, only Richard Crandall, John Brown and Merton Brown-all of Bethel-and Nancy Dewing, of Greenwood, voted to approve the $33,000 figure. On the second vote, they were joined by all other board members present and roting except Dr. Howe, John Foster, of Andover, and Malinda Seames, of Greenwood.

Ray Harrington, of Greenwood, the only board member to vote against the appointment of Mr. Bell, abstained from voting on the salary issue.

Board members initially objected to the negotiated salary because it was almost as high as that of district principals with far more experience than Mr.

"Bringing in a new administrator, with no experience, at the same level as others principals just doesn't make sense," Mr. Foster said.

Dr. Howe and Cheryl Eliot, of Bethel. expressed similar reservations, and in the initial vote they were joined by a strong majority of the board in rejecting the salary.

During the executive session deliberation, however, the board members apparently became convinced that the original salary was inevitable.

"That was the first time many of the members had seen the salary,' Chariman Merton Brown said later, noting that in the budget for next year the salary for the position was set for "up to" $33,000. "But there's no way you're going to get someone for any less," he said. 'The board's actions caused Mr. Bell, who was present at the meeting, to have second thoughts about coming to the district. "When friends asked me, 'Why come to Bethel?', I thought I knew," he said. "Now I have some doubts. I'll have to think again.

Mr. Bell's remarks came at the end of the meeting, when John Brown suggested he might like to address the

He used the opportunity to take the board to task for its handling of salaries. 'If you want to attract the best candidates you have to come up with a process that does not lead to public embarrassment," he said.

As was the case with past discussions of salaries at open board meetings, the plea of embarrassment was not sympathetically received. "It's a fishbowl life," Merton Brown said later about the position of a school administrator. "But that's part of what the $33,000 is all about. If you can't take the heat get out of the In other action at Monday night's

In other matters, the board voted to sell the old police cruiser by sealed bid. The selectmen had originally planned to keep it around as a spare, but the Budget Committee called into question that policy and removed from the proposed budget any money involved with the second cruiser. The board approved a liquor license renewal for The Bethel Inn but agreed to include a cover letter calling attention to a complaint about Inn guests holding private drinking parties after hours.

STUDENTS GETTING ANXIOUS AS SPANISH TRIP DATE NEARS

The Bethel Rotary Club, the students selected for the Spanish exchange trip and their families, have been hard at work these past few months. All of the students have their passports and are anxiously awaiting their June 20 departure. The Rotary Club has been active raising funds for the exchange trip, as have the students and their parents.

Last weekend Daisy Coolidge and Gurt Hinkley, along with the students, held a very successful yard sale at the Todd's home. A month ago the students had their third and most successful bottle drive. The next bottle drive is June 4, along with a car wash.

The major fund-raising event for the students (and parents) is the bike-a-thon. slated for Saturday, May 21. If you wish to sponsor a rider, and you have not been asked yet, contact Linda Saunders, at The students are meeting on Wednesday nights for Spanish classes, taught by Chris Zimmer. The chaperones have held two meetings and plan to have a meeting with all of the parents in the near future. Some of the students (with a parent) are attending the Spanish class offered by the Adult Education program, taught by Bebe Gilmore.

The organizers of the Spanish Exchange trip wish to thank the program's supporters in the community.

Bethel landfill Continued from Page One towns again accounting for 5 percent. Mr. Lynch pointed out that the town figures do not reflect total deposits at the landfill—only total pick-ups and deposits by D&S. As Mr. Lynch pointed out, D&S picks up about 90 percent of the waste in Newry, but only 60-65 percent of the waste in Bethel. Based on Mr. Merrill's figures, the town manager told the selectmen that—for starters—the amount charged Oxford County for Albany and Mason should be increased. Currently, Hanover pays $7,200 annually for use of the landfill (for putting in 2 percent of the waste) while the county pays just $1,500 for Albany and Mason, who contribute 3 percent of the waste. (Newry pays $20,000.) In view of the rapidly depleting utility of the landfill, the selectmen voted 4-0 (Selectman Pat Dooen was absent) last Tuesday to hold a public hearing on amending the landfill rules and regulations. Under the proposed amended rules, refuse brought to the landfill would have to be separated into wood and demolition debris; stumps, rocks and masonry; scrap metal and white goods; and tires (removed from the rims). The following wastes would be prohibited: animal wastes and carcasses; motor vehicle bodies and parts; hazardous wastes; hazardous substances such as pesticide containers; ash, liquid or viscous wastes. In addition, construction waste is to be limited to 10 cubic yards from each construction site. The public hearing on the amended regulations was set for May 16.

Softballers ranked 2nd in Western Me. Class C With the release of the season's first Heal Point Ratings, the Telstar Rebels find themselves ranked in the number two slot for Western Maine Class C. The season playoffs will be held among the top 11 teams, with the top four teams getting a bye for the preliminary round Telstar's team is led by pitchers Heidi Belanger and Mindy Robinson. Belanger, the starter, sports a 7-1 record so far this season. Coach Jim Lunney describes her as a control pitcher with good speed. He feels she is as good as any pitcher the team will face this year. Robinson is also fairly quick, her coach said, and capable of changing the speed of her delivery to throw hitters off. She pitches if Heidi gets into trouble, which isn't often, since Heidi is having her best year so far. Offensively, senior shortstop Nancy Miller leads the team in hitting, with a .519 average. Nancy took over the hitting lead by batting .714 and .555 in the second and third weeks of the season. Mindy Robinson is second, with a .447 average. She leads the team with two doubles and two triples, and her 12 RBI are second on the team. Senior third baseman Mary Hutchinson (.429) and senior catcher Missy Johnson (.412) add solid bats to an explosive lineup. Mary leads the team with 20 runs scored and Missy is third with 15. To prove how strong the lineup is, leadoff batter Buffi Taylor is the team leader in RBI, having knocked in 14 thus far. Defensively, the Rebels are strong at all positions. Seniors hold down five of the six infield positions, led by Mindy Robinson at first base (when she's not pitching), Nancy Miller at shortstop, Mary Hutchinson at third base, and with a bat-

Hundreds signing up for Trek Across Maine

There are already 326 registrations for the American Lung Association of Maine's fundraising bicycle ride. "Our wildest projections did not foresee this kind of response!" said Peter King, director of the Trek Across Maine.

The three-day, 180 mile bicycle ride will begin at the Sunday River Ski Resort next month. The participants will spend their first night at the University of Maine, Farmington, the second night at Colby College and the finish is the Samoset Resort.

This is a three-day adventure for the trekkers, who are forecast to raise over $125,000 for the American Lung Association of Maine by challenging their legs and lungs. The money raised will directly help the American Lung Association of Maine increase its efforts in the fight for clean air and healthy lungs.

There is still room for participants. For more information on the 1988 Trek Across Maine, contact the ALA of Maine, 128 Sewall St., Augusta 04330 or call 1-800-462-LUNG.

I used to hurry on my way always in haste to beat the clock. There was never time for watching the zipping bee, the shyness found on the pansy's face, or the tree which seemed more resigned to the way it liked to live than most things did. Now I'm forced to walk, not run, so I notice more of the little things. But it taught me to know that in the rush of life and kitchen work and more. I missed much.

I did enjoy my walk to school each morning. I'll admit there were occasional the cozy warmth of a warm room to gram (SYETP). weather. However, the walk along the way most mornings in the dawn-silence was magical. The sun was seeking out the horizon. I could sing without worrying that my voice was off-key, recite poetry to please myself, name the presidents of the U.S. in order or the fifty states. There was no one to hear me but our closest star, the sun, in the mornings or blackness creeping in when I flashed my light on puddles, brooks and sometimes the fields at evening.

This brings to mind what happened one fall while I was on my way home. Not far from the schoolhouse, which was back from the main road, I was pointing my light toward an open field when I heard someone approaching me. It never occured to me to be afraid—back then. It soon became evident that the man was the Game Warden. He gave a friendly greeting and moved on. I have wondered many times if he had been happy or disappointed that I, with the light, was just the "country school teacher" instead of a "poacher" hoping to get a deer. I'm sure my light was what brought him that way for some distance down the road I saw his car parked.

May is now here, so gone is the creeping advance of the Earth's first awakening. The leaves on beeches, oaks, maples and birches are pushing outward and upward. The willows are giant gravishgreen bouquets. In swamps, on hillsides and from the brown carpet of the woodland, plants are lifting up green stalks with flowers, to the sunlight.

I visited a secluded corner this week where grow the lovely Arbutus and Mayflowers, as most New Englanders know them. They are pink or white, small and punctual. Their delicious breath is among the earliest flowers of a perfume-laden summer. We look for them in April, not beneath the snow but under the dead brown leaves of last year; especially in light sandy soil or among the pines. Coming upon them leaves a picture of sweetness and beauty forever.

May is one of the year's loveliest, and many say it's their favorite. As the first faint fingers of dawn begin to caress the If you're looking for a summer job, look here

The Berniers and Bergerons have been making trips to Temple following the death of Hartley Farmer, our son-in-law. The funeral service was held Saturday evening in Farmington.

Esther Leiper of North Country Week- about the weather. ly writes on flatlanders vs. Yankees meaning northern New Englanders). My father had a country general store but I never heard the term flatlander until recent years. Back then we called them outsiders, summer people or tourists. They came on or about Memorial Day and were gone by Labor Day, with two exceptions that I recall. A gentleman from the New York area stayed well into September because of doctor's orders and he telephoned a friend in New York who said "Where are you!?" "I'm still in Maine. I'm the only civilized person left here" he said.

Another time a resident retrieved a box of clothes from the dump after a summer family left, and bragged of the nearly new, nice coat which would fit her daughter come spring. Well these summer folk did the unheard of and came up over Easter weekend, attending church service where the resident's daughter was sporting her finery. Some folks were embarrassed; most were amused.

Both of these incidents may illustrate why there is some animosity towards newcomers. In those days our lives were Mercier home. more different, our clothing distinguished us and we were thought and treated inferior. Perhaps there is held over, unconscious resentment.

My father would overdo his dress manner with suspenders hooked with a nail. pants legs folded at different heights, shirts unbuttoned or misbuttoned and barefoot. His manner of speaking was even more ignorant sounding. When I inquired why, he replied sardonically, "Because the summer people like to go home and talk about the Maine Character they saw here and it is good for the business." Dad was an educated schoolteacher who could speak good English and often read aloud from classic or other literature and recited poetry at times.

But much has changed. The outsiders they say that evolves from?"

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Verrill, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Verrill and family and Mrs. Jerry Verrill's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Blake, of Bethel, spent a week in Clearwater, Fla., recently. They left here on April 16, returning the 27th. Three cars carried them to their destination in two days because they drove all night the first night out. While there, they visited Busch Gardens. Their abode was on the beach so some of them enjoyed the water. The temperature was 80 and 90 degrees while they were there.

Leon and Marguerite Verrill stopped at South Lancaster one night to visit their son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Erland Verrill. The Blakes also stopped at friends before arriving home the 27th. Pat Tibbetts and son, Neil, from Ox-

The report was good. This will pass for a rainy week here. The brooks are bank high, which is good for spring moisture. Some have put peas in their gardens already. We have been feeding lawns and everyone is raking and improving the looks of their surroundings.

Esther Davis had several in her home for supper Thursday evening. A turkey dinner was served, which was delicious. This is your Chamber of Commerce

Each week, this column will spotlight a different member of the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce. The purpose is to give some understanding about the various fields of endeavor of the Chamber members.

The Maine Line Products enterprise began operations in Bethel during June of 1979 as proprietors Rick and Ellen Whitney, with able assistance from Rick's parents, Robert and Muriel Whitney, assembled a beginning line of addition of a line of gift quality gift items all crafted here in the of New England as well State of Maine.

In November of 1981, Maine Line Promalls, fairs and trade s ducts moved to the former Charlie's Pizza building where they began to supplement their stock of gift items with an extensive inventory of pre-owned home As the business continued to grow, Rick realized that even larger quarters were needed and in March of 1983 purchased the present 11 Main St. location next to the Town Office. The new property not only provided increased sales area, a sizeable assembly and lamp repair shop, and a spacious barn for inventory storage, but it also included an extensive apartment which today serves as the Whitney residence.

Presently the business consists of retail gift sales, wholesale transactions with other gift shops, mail-order catalog sales and short-term sales activities in malls, fairs and trade shows.

Activities for the month of May are in full swing. National Teacher's Day was May 3. Our secretary, aides and assistants treated us to a duty-free day. Several students remembered us and showed their appreciation also.

Students worked hard to complete the SRA Achievement Tests this week. Many thanks to parents who sent in refreshments to help brighten a tough

The 1st-graders have been making beautiful May baskets and filled them with their very own rice krispy treats. These were taken home to mothers. Before taking them home they practiced "hanging" one on the Kindergarten class. Great fun for all! The Kindergartners and the 1st-graders are studying the ocean and preparing for a trip to Kettle Cove, Cape Elizabeth, for the "low tide walk" given by the Gulf of Maine Aquarium. The 2nd-graders have finished their study of family farm life in the 19th century. Now they are studying current farm life. Activities include planting oumpkins and incubating chicken eggs The 3rd-graders are continuing their study of the local community. They are making a large map of the town. Models of businesses visited are being constructed and placed in the appropriate locations on the map. Study will culminate with a celebration of "We the

An upcoming date to make note of is May 19. The Legion Memorial and Agnes Gray Schools are presenting a program on Kindergarten readiness. The program will include a video entitled. Do you know where your child is?" (What every parent should know about school success and what every teacher already knows about your child).

Parents of future Kindergarten students in West Paris are encouraged to come. However, all parents may be interested and the program is open to the public (West Paris and other towns) Following the video, Lynn Brown, Kindergarten teacher, and Greg Grigsby, home school counselor, will be available for discussion and questions The program will start at 7 p.m. on Thursday, May 19, in the library at the Agnes Gray School.

News from

Woodstock School By DIXIE INMAN

The balloon launch held on Monday. April 25, was a beautiful sight. The wind carried each balloon up over the mountain. The eyes of our children lit up as their balloons soared away, in hopes it would be found. A balloon was found by Belinda Hager, who lives on East Oxford Road in Oxford. The balloon was tagged by Sarah Hart of Grade 4.

The entire school rode to Norlands on April 28 with each student dressed in the style of the 1800 era. The students attended school there, finding it very different from their own school. Each student curtsied to the teacher upon entering the school. A wagon ride was the highlight for some as it was being pulled by a team of oxen. It was a great experience for our

On Thursday, May 5, the 5th-grade students did not need lunch, as they made tacos. This was a cooking activity in math to help them with their study of fractions. A thank-you goes to parents who helped provide ingredients.

Students adopt a tree. Each 4th-grade student has adopted a tree on the school grounds. They will be observing the tree often through the spring to witness any changes it goes through. Science in action, right before their eyes!

There will be no Kindergarten classes on May 11 and 12. EPSF testing will be held instead. Students will arrive with parents by appointment time only.

Grade 1 will go for a nature walk for science on Wednesday. Friday they will present oral and written book reports. On Saturday, May 21, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m., at the Woodstock School, a bottle drive for Grade 6 will be held, with proceeds to be used towards graduation

THIS WEEK AT THE

Moses Mason House

Approximately 50 members and friends attended the May monthly meeting of the Bethel Historical Society last Thursday evening at the Dr. Moses Mason House for a slide presentation by Earle G. Shettleworth, Jr., director of the Maine Historic Preservation Commission. Mr. Shettleworth spoke about a Maine architect, Thomas Holt, who was born in Bethel in 1835 and attended Gould Academy. The son of a carpenter, he first established a firm with contractors Moses C. Foster and Cyrus Buck, also of Bethel. By 1857, however, he had entered into private practice and two years later he was offering his architectural services through advertisements in The Bethel Courier. In addition to his skills as an architect, Holt also had acquired sufficient engineering expertise to enable him to design wooden as well as steel truss bridges for the Maine Central Railroad. In fact, according to Mr. Shettleworth. part of his career was spent primarily as an engineer for the Maine Central. The first-known of Holt's commissions date from 1859 with the Benjamin Freeman house (now the home of Samuel and Natalie Timberlake) on Church Street in Bethel. Holt later designed three churches, all of which are strikingly similar in form and detail. The first of these to be built was the Universalist Chapel, at Paris Hill, a towered Italiante building featuring round arched windows and a broken pediment on the projecting base of the towers that framed the archexpenses. For bottle pick-up, please call Gayle Russell, at 665-2097. Congratulations to Jeremy Curley in Grade 1 for being "Student of the Week," May 2-6. Brownie Troop #706 will gather at Ledgeview Nursing Home, May 15, 2-3:30 p.m., to entertain residents with the " Brownie story" play. Each girl made tissue paper flowers and cards to give to a resident. The troop is planning to march in the Memorial Day Parade in Locke Mills. I will pass along details on this as I get them.

ed entrance. In his two subsequent church designs, as well as an 1862 design for the Congregational Church in Skowhegan, Holt employed a virtually identical configuration to that at Paris Hill, although the tower pediment varied between a pitched form and a segmental arch. Of his four known church commissions (Paris Hill, North Waterford, Skowhegan and Yarmouth), only the one at Paris Hill does not survive, although in the case of Skowhegan, his designs have been subsequently modified. The church at North Waterford is the least similar to the other members of the

As chief engineer for the Maine Central, Holt designed both railroad stations and bridges. His largest commission was undoubtedly the station at Augusta, but according Shettleworth, this building burned before it was completed. Holt left Maine for San Francisco and did important engineering work in California, particularly dealing with railroads, before his return to Maine toward the end of his life. Shortly before his death in 1889, Holt completed significant renovations to his family home, which stood on the site of the present Bethel Area Health Center. His design was undoubtedly used in the construction of the Bethel covered bridge, built in 1869.

Mr. Shettleworth concluded his remarks noting that the commission is still gathering material on Holt, but his contributions to Maine architecture are nonetheless important.

During the business portion of the meeting, President Marvin Ouwinga announced that the next meeting would be on June 2 and feature the Bicentennial Dancers, of Conway, N.H., who will be performing dances to the music popular between 1790 and 1890. The "Artifact of the Month" was announced by the president as a particularly significant one this time: a "Bethel" sign that once hung on the Bethel Railroad Station. This acquisition was made possible by funds donated by Bessie M. Bennett, Donald G. Bennett, Randall H. Bennett, Kenneth Bohr, Barbara D. Brown, Donald M. Christie, Sr., E.D. Hastings, John B. Head, Richard and Jane Hosterman, Rodney and President Ouwinga expressed the Society's appreciation to all who had donated so generously so that this sign could return to Bethel. The program for a conference at Bowdoin "The Iconography of Collegiate Architecture" (June 2-3) was distributed to those interested. What a simply wonderful morning this is, with the sun shining brightly and the temperature up fairly good and supposed to get up into the 70's today. We can certainly all enjoy that for a change. Should lift our spirits so we could all feel good and get out and have fun.

It was a pleasure last week to have Kariann here for a couple of days. She was such a good girl and went outside to play by herself for awhile even though it was cold. I tried to bundle her up good so she wouldn't be cold and, as she didn't bring any mittens with her, I dug out some I had made for next winter and she was a happy girl. Russell was outside raking up old leaves and grass and she went out by the swing and played until she slid out of the swing and the swing came back and hit her up by her eye. She came inside to play then but had been outside for quite a while when it happened.

We both seemed to come on with a cold on Friday so her mother came and got her late Friday afternoon after getting back from Ellsworth, where she had been for a workshop or whatever. I had been to the doctor in the early afternoon for a check-up but nothing he could give me for the cold so took lots of vitamin-C and it seems to have left me, for which I am grateful.

With all the rain and wind last Thursday night, none of us slept too well. It sure was a noisy storm, and what a large amount of rain fell! It was quite something. We had small brooks out back the next morning and it is still very wet out there. The robins enjoyed themselves the other morning. I saw six large ones out there finding worms and bugs. It was something to watch for entertainment. Peggy made a special cake on Saturday for a party for her daughter and husband that night. They were celebrating their 25th wedding anniversary and held the narty at the Racquetball Club in South Paris. It was for family members mostly. Em doesn't care for crowds so that is why the party for him and Loretta was held where it was and others not invited. Guess from what Peggy said they had a grand time.

Sunday was a busy day also. Not so much for us as for Lawrence and Grace. They had invited their family to dinner as well as Russell and I. Laura and Berpard Hutchips of East Andover, Bryce and Barbara Yates of Sunday River Road in Bethel, and Peggy was there as she has lived there this winter. We had quite a gathering, and after a dinner of turkey and lots of other good food we all went out to see the motor home that had been completed for taking trips.

Lawrence and Grace were surprised with a money tree from all. They plan to go on a trip to Alaska soon and I am sure what they got will help a little. Any amount helps one way or another. Peggy will house watch for them while they are gone. There were 25 of us there on Sunday and the motor home was full when we all went into it. I'm sure they will enjoy it as well as the trip.

Monday was another rainy day and I was tired and lazy so didn't do too much. Peggy took Russell to town to get some things he needed for his planting. Takes a lot of stuff to do things right. He has had plants come to set out and a couple of trees as well. Still got more to set out today as they came yesterday. Roses for decoration. They will stay outside with their pretty blossoms but that is where he and I like to see them. The blossoms keep much longer outside and that way we can have them. Monday night we went to Franklin Grange where we had a three point meeting. There was a good turn out from Oxford Grange and Mt. Sugarloaf also. Our Grange turned out good, too, so after a good supper the meeting was held and a lovely program enjoyed by all. The next three point meeting is at Mt. Surgarloaf on June 16, I believe. It is rather fun to get together like that.

Tuesday was a busy day for Russell as he was digging holes for some of his plants and it is very rocky around here. Cobble Hill is up back and I think lots of cobbles have fallen down this way, and the cobbles have grown to big rocks. It is a tiresome job to dig anyway. Got it done and more for tomorrow.

I had an appointment at the doctors in North Bridgton, and when Peggy and I got back Russell had his two trees set out and was going to set out strawberry plants in the afternoon. I went out to help what I could, which was little, but at least Russell didn't have to keep getting up for the water to wet the plants with. More of the strawberries from last year survived than he had thought so didn't have any too much room for the new plants. He has sure been busy setting out the plants he ordered and has more to do today.

The vegetable garden will be next for him to get ready. He has peas, spinach and some chard already planted, but they haven't come up as yet. However, they should be soon.

Got to get busy soon and do my house cleaning but have been sewing what I could to make things for my granddaughters' birthdays, which are coming right up. Should be done in a few days and then will tackle the cleaning. It is a job I dislike, like everyone else.

Don't forget that West Paris Grange will be having that flea market and food sale on May 14. With my granddaughter's birthday and the other one having a dance recital on Friday night, May 13, and the Maine State Parade on May 14, a dinner at Wynona's on Sunday, May 15, I won't be there this time. I am to go to Wynona's for the weekend and she will come for me on Friday. However, I am sure they will have a lot for anyone to buy, either of food or other items. One never knows what might be available for buying, so go and see.

Mount Washington is still covered with snow and it can be seen when coming up Elm Hill Road. I shall be happy to see it when the snow is gone and it will help make the wind warmer when the snow disappears, I am sure.

The installing officers were from the Rumford Post, Mike Cocca, Vito DeFilipp, with Bryant Gurney as the chaplain. The Jackson-Silver Legion officers were listed in the report of the last meeting.

For the second year, the elected officers of the Sons of Legion Officers were installed. State Commander Mike McRae, of South China, was the installing officer. The following men were installed into the offices indicated: Alan D. Pollard, commander; Brian Colby, adjutant; Early Colby, 2st vice commander; Carl Colby, 2nd vice commander; Charles Mason, chaplain; Brian Strickland, finance officer; David Mason, historian; David Milligan, sgt. at arms. Earl Colby was the retiring commander.

This is the second year that the Sons of the Legion officers were a part of the post, chartered last year. This organization is nationwide and was established by the American Legion in 1932. Membership consists of descendants, adopted sons and stepsons of the American Legion, and such male descendants who died in military service during World War I and II, the Korean War or the Vietnam conflict.

The Poppy Girl chosen for this year is Angela Lovejoy, the 11-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alanson Lovejoy, of West Bethel. She is a 5th Grade student at the Crescent Park School. and that means summer camp physicals. Recent studies by both the American Academy of Pediatrics and the American Academy of Family Physicians indicate that a thorough physical every two-three years for a healthy child over six years old is necessary, according to the Bethel Area Health Center. But between these thorough physicals, a screening physical is generally enough. Because many summer camp programs still require some type of physical exam within a year, the Health Center will provide a screening physical for its regular patients who have had a complete examination within the last two years. Parents are requested to bring camp physical forms with them at the time of the physical. The parent's section is to be filled out before the appointment. A screening physical consists of a very brief examination of the child for major abnormalities and includes a blood pressure test, vision test, urinalysis, a simple blood test for anemia, height, weight and tetanus booster, if necessary.

Newry fire station bid awarded to Owen Aaron

The Newry Fire Department Committees met last Monday evening. Bids were opened for the construction of the new 26x26-foot fire station at the municipal building lot. Three bids were received: one from D.J. Construction, Inc., for $13,746, not including cement work; one form Owen W. Aaron, for $13,500, without electrical wiring; and one from Morton Bros., for $15,878 complete. One bid was received from Timothy Hutchins for slightly under $1,300 for the electrical work. It was expected that the cement work would run about $1,300.

The committee also worked on laws for the new Fire Department. The selectmen met with Fire Chief Virgil Conkright last Tuesday morning and went over the bids. It was voted to accept the bid of Aaron, with Hutchins to do the electrical work.

Selectman Willard Wight reported on the last meeting of the 11 towns now being served by Keegan Ambulance Service. The representatives of the 11 towns are recommending that the towns form a non-profit association to provide ambulance service, to be managed by Bill Gates, of Keegan's. Keegan's equipment and personnel would be taken over by the service, it is expected. This would have to be approved by the towns at special town meetings, to be held later this month. Keegan has agreed to keep the service operating until July 1, when the non-profit service should be ready, if approved by the towns. Mr. Wight will attend another meeting at Mexico, May 4, and further plans will be made.

The assessors spent the afternoon finishing up field work on Bear River, and plan to meet Friday to start on Sunday River.

THOUGHTS FROM THE Pastor's Study

The Bethel Area Clergy Association, with the help of pastors of surrounding churches, brings you these meditations. Not based on any set theme, they will be individual for each pastor. It is hoped you will find in these words, comfort and help for your dai-

"Growing up is hard to do," says an old Johnny Mathis song. But all of us have to do it. When the baby bird is grown, the parent kicks it out of the nest so it will learn to live on its own. When the calf is old enough, the cow's milk supply dries up so it will learn to live on its own. After the children graduate and leave home, mom and dad suffer the "empty nest" syndrome for a while; but they are very pleased when son or daughter calls home to say, "I've got a job. I've found an apartment. I'm on my way!"

While Jesus was with the disciples teaching them and preaching the good news to the people, the gospels indicate again and again that they really didn't understand who he was and what the Kingdom was about. They were, in a way, infants in the faith.

So when Jesus was taken from the disciples and crucified, they were grief stricken and terrified. Naturally, when he appeared to them again, their joy knew no bounds. Still, their question in Acts 1:6, "Now are you going to restore the kingdom to Isreal?" shows that they had not yet grown up in the faith.

Then finally, Jesus really left them. But he left them with a promise and a prediction: "You will receive power when the Holy Spirit comes on you; and you will be my witnesses, in Jerusalem—and to the ends of the earth." (Acts 1:8)

In the Bible records, the ascension story seems a little like a "Close encounter of the third kind" using a cloud instead of a spaceship. Maybe it is that age's way of saying, "Jesus was here and did great things. We believe he is exalted and 'sitteth on the right hand of God'." (Apostles' Creed). In any case, for me the important part of the story is not the cloud and the heavenly throne room, but the promise and the prediction.

Dale Brown is making plans to move into his trailer that has been moved onto the land he bought from Mrs. Pauline me one afternoon, also Mrs. Helen Mrs. Don Brown, of Albany, who has been in the Maine Medical Hospital in Portland, expects to be home again soon. Erlon Kregg, also of Albany, is in the hospital with back trouble. Mr. and Mrs. Albert Nelson Sr. and son. Dale, went to Boston Friday night and attended the ball game. They were joined by his daughter and husband. Abdul Traish. Paul Taylor, my nephew, of Nashua,

N.H., visited me over the weekend and attended the grave services of his aunt,

A tribute to my sister: Death is just a natural thing like the closing of a door. As we start upon a journey to a new and distant shore. So let our grief be softened and yield not to despair. We have only placed our loved one in the loving Father's care.

The ascension of the Lord, celebrated tomorrow (May 12), is reassurance for growing up spiritually. For when you think about it, leaving our childhood home and setting forth into the world, being responsible spouses, parents and society members—all these are acts of faith. We have examples and advicegivers, but we really don't know ahead of time exactly how to do these things. Ultimately we have to do them on our own, learning as we go, and trusting in the guidance and forgiveness and abiding love of God.

If we believe in Jesus, the ascension story helps us also believe that, like those early disciples, we too will receive the comfort of the Holy Spirit and the strength to share with the world the good news of Jesus Christ.

Lakes association will meet May 28th

The Community Lakes Association of Woodstock and Greenwood will hold an informational meeting at the Woodstock School Saturday, May 28, at 10 a.m. The meeting is open to the public and anyone interested in the quality of the environment in and around the many lakes in the Woodstock and Greenwood area is invited to attend.

An official from the Maine State Warden Service will be the guest speaker and a short movie, called "America's Westlands" will be shown.

The Lakes Association had its beginning in the summer of 1986 when a number of shoreline residents and property owners became concerned that some current practices and long-term development projects in and around the lakes could have a potentially negative impact on the lakes.

Given the level of concern of long-time lake residents who have seen a steady deterioration of the water quality in area lakes over the years, it was not long before a lakes association had been organized. By September of last year, the organizers had put together a set of bylaws and elected a group of people from both Woodstock and Greenwood to serve as the officers and executive board of the

In explaining what they hope to accomplish, a spokesman for the Community Lakes Association quoted from the association's bylaws, stating that their purpose was to "promote an awareness among the many people who use the lakes, of their repsonsibilites in helping to maintain hgih water quality standards, seasonal safety standards, and to preserve and protect the natural environment in and around the lakes."

CARD OF THANKS

Words can never express my thanks to family, neighbors and many friends for the gifts of food since returning home and all the lovely cards and messages of cheer while I was in the hospital. One wall was papered with cards and messages from you, dear friends, at the hospital. So cheerful to look at during my long stay there rather than a white wall. The lovely plate of our year as WM & WP in Eastern Star was a wonderful surprise and the money gift from Star and the Senior Citizens and others was much appreciated and made my stay more pleasant. God Bless our little towns and the kind hearts that care. In appreciation.
